Yes - it's best if we go when a cruise ship is in Port (Wednesday, 10-25-17)....

Augie-

Can you arrange a walk-through with Lorena to view the strategic locations?

It's been my experience that the "donkey carts" don't get a lot of walk ups. The plastic ones hanging on the wall have been pretty successful. In the past, the large chamber books have also been stocked in the plastic ones hanging on the wall....

Augie,

Steve Robbins only showed me two kiosks identical to the wooden one near the Iowa. Those are the only two that I have ever restocked, except one of those is now missing. Who installed these other locations? Who is responsible for them?

I think I need a tour of the cruise terminal with whoever else stocks brochures. I don't know who that might be. Could it be Luis from Metro Shore?

I also want to understand the "flow" of the people so that I can better understand how and what to stock. If there are more areas that we need to stock that's fine, I just need to know about them and coordinate it.

Thanks.

I have no idea where this might be. The kiosk I just organized is located upstairs in the center. It's identical to the one in front of the battleship except that it looks new.

There are plastic "magazine" holders placed in the B93 upstairs cruise terminal that used to hold a bunch of material (see photo).

Cruise terminal brochures have been organized. We used to have two kiosks. I only saw the one upstairs.

The one downstairs used to be on the bottom floor at the corner nearest Harbor. It's gone.

HI Lorena-

For clarification, is there a regular route for delivery of brochures? I.e. drop off at Crowne Plaza, Double Tree, Fish Market, Cruise Terminal, IOWA, etc.?

How can we assist?

Augie,

We do not have the materials to stock up right now.

We are in the process of printing our next version of our visitor map. I met with the graphic artist today.

We still need to do some other work. The temp I hired to fill in while Joe is out ended up in the hospital and she's been out.

I'm hoping she will be back next week.

Hi Lorena,

Theresa received a call last week from Letty asking her to provide them with Waterfront Brochures, etc and I'm assuming she wanted them to place within the cruise terminal. Is the BID stocking the cruise terminal with brochures as was done in the past? We have 2 cruise ship in tomorrow.

Thanks,
Auge
